“ Josh had a good heart. A loving caring dude. The last good memory I have of him, is when I told him I was moving away to Hawaii, he wanted to go fishing.(I've never fished) and although we didn't catch anything, just spending time with him with him with a fishing pole,illegally under some bridge, somewhere we weren't supposed to be, is fried into my memory-every minute of it. I believe he was heartbroken that he was losing friend. Now I'm heartbroken because I've lost a friend...
I do find solace in the fact that I know he is with the Lord, and I will see him again one day. I wonder if fishing isn't allowed either in heaven ☐

“ Josh I did not get to spend near enough time with you but what I did I was super impressed with you. Stormy said she hates that you going to miss so much but I know you will see everything from onhigh. I could not have handpicked better man to Love and protect my daughter and raise my grandson. The immense amount of love y'all shared was obvious to anyone who is fortunate enough to be around y'all. Do me a favor Don't catch all the big ones up there until we get to see it until then I know I have you to watch over Jackson and Stormy. And even as young as they are I know you talking well and they will carry on your legacy to shine to the rest of the world. Until we meet again Godspeed and God bless thank you Josh for the contribution you leave behind. Lord Jesus keep Jaxon and Stormy always under your wing but it prosper grow and flourish and light of your love . In Jesus name I pray Amen

I'm not sure why I had this overwhelming feeling to check on you this morning bro. I'm glad that I did, but I really hate that I will never be able to talk to you again. I'm so sorry that we lost touch. I know that it'll be like no time has passed at all when I get to see you again. Smoke a cig in the parking lot before you walk through the gates my friend.

“ Josh, words can not express how much you will be missed. Your charm, wit and sense of humor are unmatched. I'll never forget the deep talks you and I had when you would ride to work with me. You were just so beyond your years.

We are all better off for having you in our lives but there will always be a piece missing here without you.

I love you,

“ Joshie-Poo - I'll never forget you arguing about you being the best looking relative in the family (hopefully Phil won't see this), or who is the funniest. I'll miss making fun of Grandma Carole's squirrels and her "creepy Precious Moments dolls" with you. We'll hold it down for you down here, and I promise to continue being the funniest member of the family. Love you and I'll see you on the other side Cousin ♡

“ Our interactions were too few and far between, but every one of them cherished and with value. I'll miss the creativity in your outlandish monologues, your bold confidence, venture propositions, those goofy faces you make while you're waiting for whatever dumb joke to land.. I'll always be thankful to have known you as my cousin. May you be at peace. I love you.

“ Josh had a way of lighting up every room he walked into. No matter how much time passed between our conversations, the moment he called or texted it felt like we picked up exactly where we left off. He was endlessly proud of his beautiful son, Jax, he talked about him with so much joy, and you could hear the love in his voice every time. When we were kids, he used to rap around the house, making all of us laugh. There's one line I'll never forget: "My friends call me Tiger cuz I live in the woods." It still makes me smile. Josh, I love you so deeply. Your humor, your heart, and your spirit will stay with me forever. I will miss you always.
Rest in peace. - Madisyn

“ Josh made me laugh so hard with any interaction we ever had. He had the same sarcastic sense of humor as his mother and her siblings that’s for sure. My kids and I still quote some of the hilarious “Josh-isms” from when he was in his teens. “In Japan...some people eat bugs...ewwww...” and we will never forget the OCK! His legacy is his amazing son and all the people’s lives he touched along the way. Until we meet again nephew. Rest in peace Josh, you are so loved and will be missed so much. See you on the other side... Aunt Dawn
