“ I want to offer my condolences for family of Ms. Bell. I see that instead of flowers the family wants money to be sent to the Alzheimer's foundation. My dad died of dementia and I understand the pain you must have felt to see Ms. Bell suffer as she did. One thing that helped me cope with my father's illness and death was two scriptures. The first scripture is Isaiah 33:24, it talks about that one day on earth no person will be sick. If you are not sick then you will not die. That scripture brought me great comfort during my dad's illness. The second scripture is John 5:28, 29, Jesus says in this scripture that all those in the memorial tomb will hear his voice and come out or be made alive like Lazarus did when Jesus resurrected them. So that tells me one day I am going to see my dad and he will not be sick anymore. I hope these scriptures bring you as much comfort as it did me
