“How do I begin to express how I feel about losing you. there are not enough words to describe my love for you. You live on in my heart forever. You and I shared so much, and I will miss our talks, and not seeing your precious face again in this lifetime. One day we all will be together again. You are in the best place you could ever be in. Your Dad misses you, Pop misses and loves you too. Rest well my sweet angel.
